Castelló d'Empúries Flour Mill and Eco-Museum

Welcome to the Flour Mill and Eco-Museum. Photo by Manel Puig.

The Castelló d'Empúries Flour Mill and Eco-Museum is a factory that was open from the late 19th century and during the first half of the 20th century, built on the remains of three medieval flour mills. The Museum opened to the public in 1998, following a renovation carried out by the municipality. It was converted into an eco-museum with displays covering the flour industry in Catalonia and the great changes that took place in flour production during the second half of the 19th century. It is part of the network of Science and Technology Museums of Catalonia.

The tour follows a route through the manufacturing areas, moving from one floor to the next, accompanying the complex procedures for processing wheat grain. The visitor travels through time and the history of science to discover a little more about the world of wheat, flour and bread.

\\

We also recommend visiting EmpordàNAT, which shows the four protected areas in Empordà, to take a walk and appreciate the natural, cultural and intangible heritage of the region.
